

I believe it is very wasteful to have "telemarketers" spending their time making these unwanted calls when they could be earning a degree, creating manufactured goods, adding to the country's intellectual wealth, and in general making real contributions to the country's productivity. Not inconsequentially, they are taking away from innocent people's ability to be productive, people who have done nothing but lived in a heavily targeted area. That targeting is in fact due to the very productivity of the target, the work we have done to get here, the value of which the marketers are attempting to exploit. Because of this exploitation, this activity undermines the future value of the country. If you can overcome the money from their lobbies, and see through their specious arguments, please make the laws stronger for the sake of the country and it's productivity.